S. Clay Williams, president of R.

J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, attacked the government's plan, which would give Secretary Wallace virtual control over the industry with power to fix prices, and offered the domestic manufacturers a substitute. He said all large domestic manufacturers were willing to sign the substitute.

Exporters Favor Williams' Plan.

James I. Miller, of Wilson, N. C., spokesman for the exporters, said his group would "co-operate" in any plan, but it favored that advanced by Williams.

He said exporters were "not able" o sign any agreement, as they dealt with many small customers in foreign ountries who would resent the fixing of a price and would place their rade elsewhere.

OVER $1 A BALE NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—
(P)—Cotton advanced $1.10 to $1.25 a bale here today to regain partially the loss of from $4.10 to $4.50 a bale in trading the last two days.

The advance was attributed to a favorable interpretation of cotton action in Washington, good cables and fair recovery of stocks and wheat.

Prices advanced at the opening of trade, eased off in midday but recovered in late trading for net advances of 22 to 25 points.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.-(A)-The Roosevelt administration today fashioned a powerful lever by which it hoped to raise farm prices through a virtual guarantee that cotton still on the farm would bring 10 cents—or more—per pound.

Through Reconstruction Corporation funds, the farmers who still hold their cotton will be loaned 10 cents a pound, if necessary, the plan being a companion piece of the 1934-35 cotton control program which was announced today by Secretary Wallace.

The necessary said he understood

The secretary said he understood the loans would be limited to those farmers who agreed to join in the campaign to reduce cotton acreage in the south next year to 25,000,000 Wallace, however, said he was unfamiliar with some of the negotiations leading to adoption of the loan plan.

The 10 cents, Johnston said, would be farm price and not exchange prices, which are 40 points or more higher than the price to the average grower. He said some adjustment would be made to take care of freight rates, etc., but these would be worked out later. Prices on the New York

Details of Plan.

The general cotton plan follows the program put before southern growers at meetings in Memphis, Atlanta and Dallas by government officials.

Its essentials are the acreage reduction, benefit payments ranging from $3 to $11 an acre for the land taken out of production and a guarantee of a price around parity for a portion of the crop based on the average production of the land during the past five years. which the tarm administration deals, said the government would hold the warehouse receipts until the loan was repaid, or wipe off the loss if cotton failed to advance.

"In the case of the benefit payments to farmers who plowed up their cotton," he said, "the question arose because those payments were not loans. Naturally the farm credit adbecause those payments were not loans. Naturally, the farm credit administration will still hold a lien on cotton raised by farmers who borrowed from the government for seed and feed."

Wallace said "this plan to lend 10 cotton would rise to 10 cents and more, and that little money would

Action to Be Speeded.

This, he said, would be done as soon as possible. The farm credit machinery in machinery in motion."

Johnston estimated that around 8,000,000 bales of cotton were still in the hands of the producer, although he added this is "only a guess."

Indirectly, the loan plan grew out of the gathering of growers and others from the southern states this week larging among other things that the as possible. The farm credit machin-ery through its various financial agen-cies may disburse the loans, but most of the money, or all of it, will be supplied by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
Senator Bankhead said he "strong ly advised" farmers to hold their cot ly advised" farmers to hold their cotton until the government was ready to lend money, unless the price rises in the meantime."

Wallace was asked whether the decision practically to peg the price of cotton at 10 cents a pound was not made because it was realized that industrial prices had outstripped farm commodity prices and had threatened the entire recovery program.

ministrator of the farm act, and other officials.

The program, approved today by President Roosevelt, was worked out largely by Johnston and Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama.

Asked at a press conference if similar price-raising steps might not be taken with regard to other commodities, Wallace said the relief extended the cotton farmer was "not to be taken as a precedent," although he added that the administration would do all that it could in every instance. He said each crop must be dealt with "on its merits."

The secretary was asked whether he and his assistants did not depend upon the sale of a large quantity of cotton to Russia to raise cotton price in the next few weeks, but that the administration was afraid the farmer would lose the benefits since most of the staple would be out of his hands.

Smiling, Wallace replied that "we don't want to see the cotton farmers hooked in the next two or three months," but he did not explain to what he referred.

Wallace said the plan today could not, in his opinion, apply to corn and hogs because no long-time control program had been worked out for those two commodities.

He and George N. Peek, the farm administrator, stressed that the arrangement for cotton, while a stabilization measure, could not be compared to the stabilization activities of the farm board.

"Lady for a Day" Held | 'Take My Advice' Plays Over for Second Week

Over for Second Week

"Lady for a Day," that grand story of the real Broadway, told by Damon Runyan and directed by Frank Capra, will start its second week at the Rialto theater today. It is doubt ful if any picture of the past year or more has created so much enthusiastic comment as this and, as the word of mouth praise has spread over the city, there have been larger and larger crowds storming the Rialto box office nightly.

Manager W. T. Murray has never before presented such a perfect piece of screen entertainment as this and the fact that he did not raise his prices proves that he is utterly sincere in his announced program of giving Rialto patrons the finest possible screen productions at bargain prices.

"Lady for a Day" is enacted by a cast that will long be remembered for its perfect adaptability to the characters of the story. May Robson, Warrer, William, Guy Kibbee, Jean Parker, Walter Connolly, Ned Sparks, Nat Pendleton, Glenda Farrell are a few of the leading players. May Robson mever did anything finer in the 50 years of her stage and screen career than "Apple Annie," the Broadway beggar woman who becomes a high society lady for a week, while people who don't see Guy Kibbee play pool miss something that will be talked about for months and months to come.

The story by Damon Runyan is remarkable for its simple fidelity to the Brater and Henry Parker, the popular vocalist, continue to provide musical diversion from the pit.

the screen as anything Hollywood has known.

Manager Murray has secured a new group of short subjects for this, the second week, especially for the benefit of the hundreds of patrons of his theater who have said they want to see "Apple Annie" a second dime. In fact, "Lady for a Day" is the kind of picture that anyone can enjoy time and time again and it is expected that many faces seen in the Rialto during the second week will be repeaters who were there during the opening week.

The Nuisance, "which started its week's run at Loew's Grand theater won Friday night.

In Crooked Lawyer Role Ambulance chasing and fake damage suits directed for the most part against a street car company abound in "The Nuisance," which started its week's run at Loew's Grand theater

The latter has lost $500,000 to the nuisance lawyer, and the president, fed up on the losses, tells his usually able counsel that there is a limit. He, in desperation, employs a woman detective to get on the nuisance's trail and lay a trap for him.

This she does successfully, and not only traps the shyster but his bibulous doctor associate as well. It looks bilious for the ambulance chaser, but he manages to make the lady detection.

The street car company meanwhile has trapped her with a damaging affidavit, and she for a time is between the devil and the deep blue sea. To prevent her from testifying against him, the crooked lawyer matries her. The usual complications ensue. Accidents, street car holdups and a trapfor the corporation lawyer follow thick and fast. Paramount Invites Gold Star Mothers

Saturday afternoon, all Gold Star nothers of Atlanta, are invited to see mothers of Atlanta, are invited to see "Pilgrimage" as guests of the Paramount theater, where this great production is playing this week.

The story of this picture centers around a mother, whose fealousy of her son's love for a girl causes her to have him drafted and sent to war.

Years later she is sent over as a Gold Years later, she is sent over as a Gold Star mother to visit her son's grave, and encounters a romance of a young couple similar to the romance of her son and his sweetheart.

The story has such human appeal to the Gold Star mothers that the Paramount is glad of the opportunity of having all of them see "Pilgrimage" as guests of the theater Saturday.

FALLING TAX RATES.

As the result of tax rate reductions by the state, county and local governments of Georgia the tax burden is being steadily lightened, although the cost of government in the state is still far higher than it should be, especially with reference to county government.

Not until a large proportion of the useless local governments in the state are abolished through state-wide consolidations can the taxpayers expect to receive the relief they should have, but the steadily continuing announcements of cuts in rates and assessment records encouraging progress in the right direction.

ALBANIA GETS WISE.

The little nation of Albania, nestling in the Balkan mountains, has tired of keeping itself poor and depriving its people of modern imlarge standing army, so it has reduced its appropriations for military expenses by one-half.

It takes but little imagination to picture what it would mean to the people of Europe if the big sister nations of this little Balkan country were to take the same step.

The billions now being spent annually for war preparations by England, France, Italy, Poland and other nations which are literally armed to the teeth would, if diverted to useful purposes, revolutionize living conditions among the poore classes in these nations. For many years Albania, one of the fiery Balkan nations whose people are supposed to be especially warlike, has put most of its national income to the upkeep of its military forces and the strengthening of its defenses. As a result, its Outside Stalin No Salvation.

Recause I don't like certain aspects of the new Bussian life and notably this, that while the world is being told that here exists a dictatorship of the proletariat, that means to say the workers are running the show in a socialist direction, in reality there is no such dictatorship at all. There is a dictatorship at all. There is a dictatorship but it is exercised by Mr. Stalin and a small group of his intimates. Nobody else has a word to say. Nobody else has a word to say. Nobody else is allowed to criticize, least of all these workers for whose sake the dictatorship is said to operate.

the residents of the northern section of the city living in the territory between the Piedmont, Peachtree and Marietta roads.

The present paving on the route old and bumpy and the road is narrow and has many dangerous curves. As a result, it is traveled but little by autoists going other points in north Georgia and the dictatorship is said to operate.

Of course the soviet papers carry

Now Stalin may be a hard driver and a ruthless revolutionary, but he never gave evidence in all his hife that he had one single original conception on socialist economics. He has eliminated every man who really knew something about such matters. The ablest men, those who made the revolution, are in jail or in Siberia. He alone remains—and the Ukrainian agricultural debacle is his work. Criticism is permitted, we are assured. It is. On non-essentials, on minor details. But to question the wisdom of Boss Stalin or to put in doubt one of his decisions, means death, pure and simple. Now Stalin may be a hard driver death, pure and simple. MISTER GET A PIPE. Notwithstanding all theories, experiments and arbitrary assertions concerning the effects of tobacco on health, we may say without fear of contradiction that nobody knows whether the effects of tobacco are due to nicotine or to carbon monoxid or to nicotine or to carbon monoxid or to pyridine or to ammonia or to other substances in tobacco or its smoke or to various combinations and concen-trations of these.

The authorities seem scarcely able

The authorities seem scarcely able to conceal their ignorance about the effects of nicotine. One toxicologist implies, without being clear in details, that a few drops of it on the tongue of a cat or dog will kill the animal in a few minutes, hours or days. Another cites the legend of Count Rapscallion or somebody who exterminated an approxime relative by exterminated an annoying relative by giving the pest a drop of nicotine, giving the pest a drop of nicotine, which polished him off in five min-utes flat. In such yarns nicotine al-ways works with as much certainty as does a little brandy from a flash as does a little brandy from a mass when the hero is out cold. In real life, or death, somehow these things don't work like that.

STABILIZATION WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The inflation psychology of our going off the gold standard has at last placed out

The big thinkers for the administration noted it within the last few days. Fluctuations of the dollar abroad had absolutely no effect on our stock and commodity markets.

They whispered that the time for currency stabilization had arrived. That is the confidential advice they gave Mr. Roosevelt.

flationists actually turned out to be a handshaking The reason was that administration men got to the inflation-ists before their White House call. Roosevelt spokesmen whispered that he was trying to help cotton and any public criticism would only embarrass him.

The cotton people saw the soundness of that argument and avoided the inflation subject during their call.

MASKS What impressed them privately was the president's good humor about the whole economic outlook. They quoted 'Things are turning out just as I expected."

They do not know Mr. Roosevelt very well. He frequently masks his real feelings behind a mask of good humor. However, their deduction was very important that particular because Wall Street started a series of ridiculous rumors that Mr. Roosevelt had pneumonia and what not. Those who wanted to drive down the stock market used an item in a New York newspaper to help their dirty work. All the item said was that the president had a slight fever the previous day.

That was enough for rampant bears in a declining market.

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

Circumstances and I together have done you a great wrong.
You are young enough to right matters, however, if you have the will to do it, and this is a belated effort to help you develop the will. The wrong done to you consisted in making your life too soft and easy.

ROBERT QUILLEN.

It is usual to regard that as a favor, instead of a wrong, and so it seems at the time. But later, when you begin to get the effect, you realize how harmful and unfair it was. It is much like keeping a boy's hands soft and tender as training for a job of wood chopping.

I wouldn't have you return to more primitive days when girls got up long before day-light to help with the milking, thaw a frozen bend over a washtub antil noon and finish the day at some light task like hoeing Many girls do these things yet, such drastic schooling isn't necessary.

Some hardship is necessary, however, in the building of character. The building of character sounds like a dull business and probably won't appeal to you. But it really means developing will power, and anybody should be able to see the value in that.

You have heard the old saying that a one-eyed man would be king in country of the blind. Well, it is equally true that a man with sound arms and legs would dominate a community of helpless cripples.

Suppose two men are sitting on a porch when a child in the yard tained its advertising on the theory attacked by a dog. One man cannot run to her assistance because he has no legs and the other cannot because he has no will power. Are they not equally helpless? Those without will power are crippled no less than those who have

Will power, which is the framework of character, is learned by doing disagreeable things-by forcing yourself to get up when you much prefer to lie between warm blankets.

It is easier to learn in childhood, and youngsters who live hard absorb it unconsciously as they steel themselves to do the job required of You missed that training, but you can make up for it if you will.

All you need do is practice the art of forcing yourself ahead whenever you feel inclined to hang back.

You must learn it, my dear, for will is the greater part of character and without it you will be a cripple at the mercy of those who are ning Monday, they will be placed on a 32-hour week, but company officials indicated that within the near future the work-week will be increased to average 35 hours. Plans for the new work-week, they said, now are being worked out. One such plan provides for a straight four-day week of eight hours each, and an alternate plan provides a five-day week followed by a three-day week. Officials sald they did not know yet which plan would be adopted.

"Mr. Ford intends to conform with the code by working his men an average of 35 hours a week," said one official, declining the use of his name. "He does not intend to violate the code."

This bore out previous advice from an authoritative source that Ford, who has remained uncommunicative as to his stand on the national recovery act, feels he can conform fully to the code provisions without the formality of signing and obtaining the Blue Eagle.

Auburn Beats Birmingham-Southern With Late Attack

One wondered, sitting there looking at the pictures, just what the Carnera blows took out of Jack Sharkey.

The film was run off for a few of us just after King Levinsky had won that decision over Jack Sharkey, shorn of his championship by Primo Carnera, the Italian champion.

It had been some months since the fight. And many more since that cold night at Ebbetts field when I saw Jack Sharkey in his first bout with Carnera—the first fighter of first rank to take the chance.

He has learned a lot since that cold night when Jack Sharkey knocked him down and won an easy decision. Looking at the film, one recalled the fight and that surprising knockout in the sixth. I had forgot what a tearing fight Carnera had made of the first five rounds. And I had forgot how small Sharkey looked in there with the big buffoon from Venice.

At the fight one's sensibilities, emotions and desires are under stress. The pictures give one a calmer view. And in the pictures one noticed little things—how Sharkey licked his lips and shook his head after taking a right and a left early in the sixth round,

And, knowing what was going to happen, one could look for the smaller signs which always forecast what is going to happen. There was the gradual loss of balance—the inability to step away after a flurry of infighting, the failure of the legs

Those big flailing arms did a lot of damage and Sharkey took a terrible hammering in that sixth round before the short uppercut caught him.

It was curious, seeing the film and then following the Levinsky fight. Sharkey was never in it. He left all he had in the ring with Carnera.

THEY NEVER WANT TO QUIT.

Sharkey should have quit after the Carnera fight. He had gone out well. He made a great fight of it. The Levinsky fight leaves him as something of a second-rater. Because the Kingfish isn't a great fighter by any stretch of the imagination.

Only Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney were able to retire and stay retired, knowing they were finished. Sharkey may keep on. He took his $25,000 and went home after the loss. But he will likely do considerable

The ring is decorated with the one-time champions who want to keep going. Paul Berlenbach, "Bust 'Em Paul," is one example. He was at his peak a decade ago. And now he travels about the country, meeting boys whose names aren't even in the fight records, kids who couldn't have fought on a preliminary card with him when he was going well. He depends on his name to draw what it will.

The crash got a lot of them. It got Berlenbach, I guess. It got Benny Leonard. There is a great deal of pathos in it, I guess. But no more than that connected with a tragedy in any other profession.

Sharkey undoubtedly has too much intelligence to keep going until he reaches the end of the pugilistic trail. The fellow was never popular. And he was always a bit bitter about it.

But at that the game has done well by him. It took him from the deck of a ship and made him a wealthy man with a home and a standing in his community. And had it not been for his fists he would have never

And now he should quit. The public never wanted a great deal of him. And now that Levinsky has done him in, it is time to quit 'the stage.

THE ATLANTA BASEBALL MANAGER.

'Atlanta's 1933 baseball owners have been trying 'to get over the headache caused by the flop of the 1933 set-up at Ponce de Leon park-and a very expensive flop it was.

The owners want Doc Prothro as manager but local statements are to the effect that nothing has been done. Herbert Caldwell, in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, reports as

Prothro may manage the Crackers but Prothro hasn't yet told Uncle

Wilbert that he (Prothro) has been hired.

The situation is this. Several weeks ago Uncle Wilbert and others interested financially in the Atlanta club approached Prothro while he was in Atlanta. Officials of the Atlanta club very ethically conferred with Tom Watkins, president of the Memphis club, as to whether Prothro would be retained.

Adhering to his customary policy of not standing in the way of any player or manager of his team as far as advancement in salary or a desire to change positions, Watkins told me that if the Atlanta club offered Prothro more salary than he felt he was able to offer him and that If Prothro considered he was bettering himself that he would not stand in the way of Prothro accepting any offer from Atlanta.

When asked during the play-off series in New Orleans if the Atlanta club had made him an offer Prothro admitted they had. "Did Atlanta make you an attractive enough offer to consider?" Doc

"Yes, they made me a very attractive offer," he answered. "But I did not give them a definite answer."

"Are you seriously considering the offer?" Prothro was asked.

"Yes," he replied. "The offer was so attractive that I couldn't help but consider it."

Prothro stated that President Watkins was thoroughly familiar with the offer he had received from Atlanta but had not discussed it further than that Watkins told him (Prothro) that it was strictly a matter of "One business and that if he desired to confer with the Atlanta officials he were bundled out of the theater to "You can say for me" said Prothes had.

"You can say for me," said Prothro before leaving New Orleans and after the Chicks had lost the final game, "I wish to confer with Mr. Watkins before any further negotiations with the Atlanta club."

President Watkins will not return to the city before Saturday or Sunday and Prothro said he would talk with him as seen sacrification.

day and Prothro said he would talk with him as soon as possible. "My relations with President Watkins have been most congenial and most pleasant," said Prothro. "I have enjoyed working for him and managing the team of my home town for the past six seasons."

"I will not have anything further to say about the matter until I talk with Mr. Watkins," added Prothro. That's the situation

Which doesn't exactly jibe with what Prothro had to say in New Orleans during the recent series there. The doctor wasn't sure then that he wanted to come to Atlanta. Fact is he was looking at another offer which was more attractive.

THE SEASON OFFICIALLY OPENS.

The football season has at last officially opened. One of the writers for one of our better press associations came through with it. "The thud," he said, "of cleated foot against the pigskin will be heard in the land today."

Now and then it appears that the season may not get an official start. But someone always comes through. The foot thuds and all is well.

There will be no more restful Saturdays after today. The old days of warm-up games seem to be gone. A few teams have them today. But next Saturday the war begins. have them today. But next Saturday the war begins.

Georgia is really worried about the North Carolina State game. And with reason. North Carolina State has had the Notre Dame system for two years. This is the third season. And the best one. The team is heavy, well-coached and fast.

Clemson will give Georgia Tech a great battle. This game actually has some danger for Georgia Tech although the odds are not as close as those in the Georgia game.

SPEAKING OF PIG KNUCKLES.

"I see," writes a man-about-town, "where you wrote about Wilbert Robinson and Nap Rucker eating a big dish of pickled pig knuckles. Did you ever hear of the Scotchman who started eating a pig knuckle and ate his hand off up to the wrist?"

Many Promising Teams Ready To Step in If Favorites Fail.

By Dillon Graham,

Associated Press Sports Writer.
Too ambitious schedules may cause the downfall of the Southeastern conference co-favorites, Tennessee and Alabama, and throw the football race into turmoil from which any one of a half dozen teams may emerge victorious

On the eve of another campaign, the Volunteers and the Crimson Tide stand out. They might win from any other loop team on a given day but whether they can stand up under continual battling, with every rival pointing for them, is doubtful. Then, this pair meet on October 21 and one is sure to fall.

If disaster overtakes either of these leaders, Louisiana State, Auburn, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Kentucky or Georgia may finish on top. But schedule tests likewise beset almost all these clubs.

VOLS APPEAR GREAT.

With a fine backfield returning in With a fine backfield returning intact, abetted by new material, and a good rush line, Tennessee should have a great team, possibly even better than a year ago. The tackles, an early worry for Coach Bob Neyland, appear to be well taken care of now. The problem lies in keeping the players at top speed for such opponents as Virginia Tech, Duke, Alabama, Florida, Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Louisiana State.

The Alabama forewall should be as good as any it faces and the backfield ranks with the best. Mentor Frank Thomas has four fullbacks from which Thomas has four fulloacks from which to choose the successor to Johnny Cain, the key man of the 1932 outfit.

Louisiana State will be stronger than last year. Coach Biff Jones is uncertain how his sophomores will react under fire but Louisiana completes half its schedule before tackling a Southeastern aggregation and the a Southeastern aggregation and the Bengals should be right by then. Jack Torrance may be a whale of a tackle.

Jor team.

Georgia Tech's chances depend largely on how several sophomores come through. The line looks fit but Coach Bill Alexander plans to use a number of sophomores as ball carriers. Only a super team can complete Tech's schedule without defeat.

Sophomores hold the key to the success of Vanderbilt and Kentucky, Both will be loaded with second year men. They may be the surprise outfits of the year. Tulane will have another hefty line and possibly the heaviest backfield in the conference, one that carries power and passing and kicking strength.

Georgia will be in the upper division and, given a little early success, may develop into a challenger. Florida has a brilliant array of youngsters who will cause trouble for any club if they are well handled.

Sewanee and Mississippi State should not figure in the race but Mississippi will have opportunity to play the "giant killer" role.

DIRECTION IMPORTANT.
"The direction of the team is all-important and I think England and important and I think England and France are to be commended on the manner in which they handled their men. Roper Barrett, England's captain, was an old internationalist whose handling of the team had a lot to do with lifting the cup. And Rene LaCoste's handling of the French material at his command left no cause for complaint.

"Our captain, Bernon Prentice, did his best to get us ready for the interzone final, but we failed miserably, except in the doubles, and I'd like to see a new plan tried next year. Let's try. "Smart Money," However, Likes Giants in First Game; Hubbell To Pitch.

By Jack Cuddy.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Washington is favored to beat the New York Giants in this year's World Series, according to quotations announced tonight by Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner.

Doyle quoted 7 to 10 against Washington winning the classic which opens at the Polo Grounds on October 3, and 11 to 10 against the Giants.

Will win. He bases his betting quodemand," he said. There's more money being offered on Washington than on

In other words persons betting on Washington to win will receive 17 for 10 risked if the Senators take four of the possible seven games, while Giant backers would receive 21 for their 10, in case of a New York vic-

4 to 5 against New York for the first game and even money against the Senators.

Discussing this angle with baseball writers at his Broadway billiard parlor, Doyle explained that no team facing Carl Hubbell, the Giants screw ball king, for the first time can be a favorite to win that game. He said Hubbell is sure to pitch that contest. "Here is a pitcher," he said, "who

The ancient little Irishmau respects the Giants. They cost him a lot of money this year. In his pre-season quotations Jack offered 20 to 1 against their copping the pennant, and he claims he took too many bets on them, while only a small number backed Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Doyle said there will be more betting on this series than any previous classic—the number of bets will be larger, although their total amount may not establish a record.

"This series has caught on," he concluded. "The clubs are evenly matched; have plenty of color and fight; they're managed by young devil-may-care chaps who take big chances to win. It's the big wagering series—and we and our agents throughout the country have had more early inquiries than on any previous Giants' Pitching Staff NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(P)—Football, the big brother of the college sports world, elbows his way back into the national spotlight this week with a program officially inaugurating the 1933 season. Despite the hot weather, the approaching World Series and the short proaching World Series and the short procession practice, a surprising number of hard games were down for decision tomorrow. Success of Hubbell, Schumacher, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee Explained in Tabloid.

By Edward J. Neil,

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Just what has this brilliant four-man pitching staff of Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher, Freddy Fitzsimmons and Roy Parmelee got that the Giants could win so steadily through the National league and come down to the World Series with the Washington Senators almost even money to win? The answer comes from players who have hit against them, from men like Coaches Tom Clark and Frank Snyder, old-time catchers who helped in their development, and experts who have watched them day in and day out through a trying pennant race. In tabloid form it goes like this:

Carl Hubbel, southpaw—a baffling screw ball," the only pitch of its kind in the major leagues today. Clark, who saw Chisty Mathewson's fadeaway, says Hubbell's screw ball is almost identical. It's a knee-high ball that breaks down and sway from a that breaks down and away from a right-handed hitter. Exactly opposite to the normal curve of a left-hander. ROGERS, DUPREE WIN OPENER, 20-7

Panthers Hold Auburn to 7-7 Score Until Final Quarter.

By Elmer Salter.

Special Correspondent.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 22.—
An inspired Birmingham-Southern football team played the Auburn Tigers to a 7-7 standstill for the first three quarters here Friday night in the opening game of the season for both teams before lowering its colors in the final period to lose a well-played and interesting first season battle, 20-7.

The Tigers scored their final touchdowns in the fourth quarter with less downs in the fourth quarter with less than 10 minutes to play. Taking the ball on their own 26, the Plainsmen, undefeated in their last dozen starts and co-champions of the Southern con-ference in 1932, marched down the field without losing the ball for their econd marker.

PHIPPS STARTS IT. PHIPPS STARTS IT.

Firpo Phipps started this drive with a 33-yard slice off left tackle to the Panthers' 43. Allen Rogers drove through center for 8 yards. Sterling DuPrec, Southeastern conference 100 and 220-yard champion, used his matchless speed to advantage with a run to the losers' 16. Runs of shorter distances by the above trio carried the ball over, with Rogers hitting the land of honey with a 3-yard ignat over left of honey with a 3-yard jaunt over left tackle.

Before the 10,000 fans had recovered their seats from the excitement created by the Tigers' second marker, the swift DuPree had intercepted a pass in midfield from Teel that was headed for Davis and streaked down the sidelines for his second 6-pointer of the game. His speed could not be equaled by the hard-fighting Panthers, although two came close to tackling him.

AUBURN SCORES.

Auburn's first touchdown was scored in the opening period on a 23-yard run around left end by the fleet-footed Dupree. Alternate Captain Boots Chambless, who was starring before many home-town admirers, and Phipps, did some excellent blocking on Dupree's beautiful 23-yard run. Ariail, All-Southern end, place-kicked the first two extra points and missed the third by inches.

The never-to-be-forgotten Birming-ham-Southern outfit, almost a mystery eleven before the game, evened the score a few minutes later on a pass from Teel to Davis that placed the ball on the Tigers' 4-yard stripe. Captain "Bulldog" Johnson moved the ball up two yards with a buck over center and Teel carried it over in two tries. Davis was successful in place-kicking for the extra point. AUBURN SCORES.

Davis was successful in place-kicking for the extra point.

Superior punting by Haygood and McKay enabled Birmingham-Southern to give Auburn a tough struggle and almost provide the 1933 football season with its first major upset. Once after Auburn had marched on a steady drive from midfield to the Panthers' 1-yard marker after recovering a blocked punt Haygood stepped behind his goal line and sent the ball spiraling down the field for 54 yards.

The talented McKay also sent punts sooming in the air for 43 and 55 yards.

OVERHAND SINKER.

Hal Schumacher, right-hander—his favorite is an overhand sinker, also unique. He gets it by snapping his entire arm like a buggy whip, the ball comes up low, then drops straight down as though it had rolled off a table. Hitters have been topping it all season, rolling into easy double plays. When the sinker isn't working, Schumacher usually is belted out swiftly. The strain of the pitch has tired his arm greatly. He needs considerable rest.

In Moore's six-hit flinging to defeat the phandle of the phillies, 3 to 0, in the opener of a three-game series. It was the phandle off a three-game series. It was three-game series. It was three-game series. It was three-game series. It was the phandle off a three-game series. It was three-game series. I on many occasions. The backs also failed to display brilliant work when it was needed the most. One of the leading reasons why the Tigers could not penetrate touchdown territory more than they did was that Louie

The capacity of the park is about 18,000 and after 20,000 had crowded through the turnstiles, ticket-selling was stopped. Gates of the box sect and reserved sections were swept away as the crowd invaded the playing field. The two teams were unable to get in their practice and traffic was tied up for blocks around the ball park. The game started an hour late.

The game was the sixth of the series, Buffalo leading three victories to two and needing only one to clinch the championship.

A smooth-working Spartanburg High school team, champions of South Carolina last year, made it very obvious last night at Ponce de Leon park that a good offense is the best defense in defeating Tech High, 12 to 0, before a crowd of 5,500. Tinsley—old 99 of the Spartanburg eleven—scored both touchdowns and was by far the chief ground-gainer of the game. He punted splendidly and backed up the line. Tinsley was always good for a few yards. And when he didn't have the ball, Herrin and Littlejohn craeked down on the Tech High defense for good gains. There was a great exchange of kicks in the second period. Perry had the edge in the exchange.

In the latter part of the period Tech High worked a smart pass, Perry to Dowling. Dowling caught the pass just beyond the line of scrimmage and cut over from the left all the way to the right, eluded Spartanburg tacklers and raced 23 yards before he was adowned. The visitors seemed dumbfounded. They were caught flatfooted. But Perry then tried another pass and Willard intercepted it. Tech High's first threat was nipped.

JACKET SQUAD GETS BIG TEST IN GAME TODAY

Alex To Get Slant on Starting Team for Clemson.

By Jimmy Jones. Georgia Tech's two varsities were sting before the battle yesterday, so Georgia Tech's two varsities were resting before the battle yesterday, so to speak.

Coach William Alexander appeared on the field in a sleeveless shirt and announced that there wouldn't be anything "heavy." He started the squad to working lightly on signals and a bit of kicking practice and let it go at that.

Today, however, the Jackets will get their big test for the Clemson game Saturday week. In no uncertain terms, "Alex" let it be known that he would play a regulation practice game, pitting his two varsities against the freshmen and the Grey Devils, starting around 3:30. It should be quite a scuffle.

HOLBROOK'S HERPETOLOGY.

In preparing a bibliography on Georgia Herpetology, I have been studying a list of the reptiles of Georgia Herpetology, I have been studying a list of the reptiles of Georgia Compiled by Dr. Holbrook and published in 1849. This list, while relatively rece..t, contains many names that today are not tenable. It want today are not tenable. It want today are not tenable. It want to beet of its time and as basis of comparison is invaluable.

For example, the class reptilia includes the order batrachia, which is a technical way of saying that frogs were called reptiles and not amphibians. Salamanders were defined as "smooth-skinned lizards." The "glass snake," which is unquestionably a lizard was grouped with the true snakes. Hardly a name survives unchanged, because intensive studies since that time have done much to reveal the true blood relationships of the species i question. A mere recital of the changes involved would be out of place here, but I have chosen two examples of such changes that show how classification progresses.

The blue-tailed skink, whose life history was set forth in this column as few days ago, was listed as three species by Holbrook. Scincus fasciatus was the name given to the small bluetailed form. The intermediate size, without a blue tail, was called scincus quinquelineatus. The adult, which

Each week marks an improvement in the work of ad-writers, and also in the number of entries submitted. The judges are busily engaged in making their selections from those ads entered in the contest Wednesday, and the good news for the winners will be published in the big Sunday Coustitution.

There are 25 stores co-operating in the ad-writing contest, and there is plenty of time and chances left for new entries to become proficient in writing ads. All that is necessary to enter the ad-writing contest is to call at any one of the co-operating firms and ask for official ad-writing paper, on which you may write your ad. Why Should Children Defer to Their Elders? BY FLORENCE La GANKE.

Friendly Counsel BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

One never knows what one will do with any problem in this life until faced with the problem. There are two men that love me and want to marry me. One is a well-thought-of, upstanding, successful professional man a the community; the other is a rungiling, badly handicapped poor an. The first has a good backy and a prostitute. His mother was a ostitute before her marriage and her husband was killed in a ten brawl she returned to her rofession. Anybody would say a woman wouldn't think twice making a choice of these two would have said the same effore now. Yet the bitter that I love the poor strugun and don't love the other 'cole will be the control of the control o after her husband was killed in a drunken brawl she returned to her old profession. Anybody would say that a woman wouldn't think twice before making a choice of these two men. I would have said the same thing before now. Yet the bitter truth is that I love the poor struggling man and don't love the other one. I feel that one needs me and the other doesn't. I am sure one could find another wife that would suit him as well if not better than I, whereas the other cannot realize a full life without me. I am 30 years old, old enough to know that my choice from a worldly standpoint is a wretched one. But, can a woman turn her back on the man she loves. turn her back on the man she loves, one that needs her, and marry a man she doesn't love simply because he was born under a brighter star and has brighter prospects? F. E. B.

ANSWER:

Dear woman, you are doing what nine out of ten sincere women would do: choosing to marry the man you love in the face of every apparent disadvantage, choosing love and romance in preference to position and prospect of security and ease. How does it come about that a woman can turn her back on material considerations and undertake a life of self-sacrifice and hardship? It may come about in a number of different ways. Perhaps a quotation from Harvey Allen's powerful and poetic novel, "Anthony Adverse," explains your choice: "Of all the doors by which love enters pity is the widest." ANSWER:

The wisdom of your choice will de-The wisdom of your choice will depend on the intrinsic quality of your own mind and character. You must have the ability to brook the criticism that will be leveled at you by your public. You must have the hardihood to endure the privations that marriage to a poor struggling man will involve. You must have the faith in him that will inspire him to hang on until success comes. Hans Fallada, a German novelist, has written a novel called "Little Man, What Now?" a novel notable for the manner in which he has made his heroine, a simple German wife, hold high the illusion of love, hold it high above the sorrowful and sometimes sordid experiences of a marriage that is beset by poverty, social isolation and all the other disadvantages that are concomitants of poverty. The husband, illegitimate, inadequate in every way, is saved, time adequate in every way, is saved, time and time again, from the very slough of despair by her courage, her tender-ness, her unfailing faith in him and in their love for each other.

Yes, love is a torch that will light the darkest night, but someone must always hold it high. In marriage people set out on a long journey. At best it is fraught with difficulties, disappointments, disillusionments and sometimes the way leads through gross darkness. Love is the only thing that can light the darkness. Money won't do it; pride or position won't do it, only love can do it, and the wife must carry the torch.

Mussolini Formulates Own Disarmament Plan

ROME, Sept. 22.—(A)—It was learned tonight that a Mussolini disarmament plan has been written by il duce and his secretary during the past fortnight.

The pact was reported to have been presented at Paris informally during the disarmament discussions there in order to obtain the opinion of the various nations concerned before formal presentation at Geneva and it has been communicated to Germany.

The details have not yet been revealed, but it was stated the plan was confined to general principles without involving details and figures. It was believed concerned principally with reconciling the viewpoints of Germany and France.

A recovery in bonds did much to help the position of stocks, the inference being that the investment market was more confident that views of the extreme inflationists would not prevail at Washington. Recent weak-7 Am Tob (5)

Stocks sagged through part of the morning when weakened margin accounts were being lightened and other remnants of yesterday's break disposed Firmness in the utility section was noticeable all day. Rails, though hardly buoyant, participated in the recovery, while industrials profited by relaxation of selling pressure. The U.S. Steels, American Can, Sears-Roebuck, Case, General Motors, du Pont, North American, American Telephone, International Telephone, Illinois Central, Union Pacific, Dome, McIntyre and Texas Corporation picked up a point or two. Corn Products, which decided to pay a one per cent common point or two. Corn Products, which decided to pay a one per cent common stock dividend in addition to the usual quarterly disbursement of 75 cents in cash, advanced 3 and Cerro de Pasco did as well.

Washington advices pictured the administration as studying ways and means of controlling exchange fluctuations so as to effect a stable dollar. tuations so as to effect a stable dollar. The freight loadings figures came out a day early, showing a recovery of 80.629 cars for the week after Labor Day, or a total of 652,016 cars. This was a decrease of about 2 percent from the week ended September 2 which had established the year's high, a decline being contrary to seasonal experience; however, the rebound from Labor Day week, amounting to 14.1 per cent, was larger than usual. Percentage gains over a year Percentage gains over a year ago continue to narrow, but it is remembered that at this time in 1932 traffic was expanding rapidly whereas this year the pickup began earlier.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(UP)— Wall Street's confusion over the mar-ket future continued tonight despite the cheer which radiated from strong-the cheer which radiated from stronger prices today.

The old Wall Street adage that a Saturday market may be judged by the last hour of Friday's market, would call for a steady to stronger tone tomorrow with trading somewhat limited.

But a few of the market's more pessimistic trader: pointed to such unfavorable factors for tomorrow as:

The usual week-end selling.
Absence of any noticeable public participation in the market.
Lack of any considerable short interest to cushion a decline.
Various tests which appear forthcoming for the NRA program.
SUPPORTING FACTORS.
To support the view that tomorrow may see strength were these factors:

tors:

A Dun & Bradstreet survey showing increased consumer buying.

Foreign selling of stocks and bonds appears to have dried up.

Commodity and bond markets improved today.

The market today proved itself able to absorb selling.

The market today proved itself able to absorb selling.

This latter point was borne out in today's trading. After an irregular opening the market eased off as selling pushed prices down. Then there came a turn-about, trading picked up, held steady, showed a little more strength at the close and finished with gains of 1 to more than 6 points.

But it was a confusing day. "Inflation," "controlled dollar" and French abandonment of the gold standard were bandied about brokerage offices.

The inflation reports came from Senstor Pittman's urge for silver

The inflation reports came from Senator Pittman's urge for silver monetization and inflationary talk in commodity markets.

The "controlled dollar" idea gained strength from Washington although there was no official announcement.

French gold standard abandonment came from out of nowhere and again found two schools of thought—one that it would be a bullish factor for it would cause the American dollar to drop; another that it would be a bearish factor, causing the American dollar to go up.

Wall Street today talked about:
The strength in Seaboard Oil of Delaware, which shared in a new gas well in east central Texas. . . Predictions from another Chicago source dictions from another Chicago source that December wheat should touch $1.25.... Century Ribbon Mills, Inc., report showing 41 per cent better sales in July and August than in the corresponding periods of 1932... The statement of H. A. Scandrett, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, that the road would just about earn fixed charges for August with additional reports that western backing of the stock had been withdrawn... That Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, through its subsidiary, the Firestone Steel Products Company, is manufacturing a new steel beer barrel from which they expect much.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—
Early irregularity on the curb market gave way to a brisk rally in the last hour today. Principal metal shares were leaders in the recovery which reduced many losses suffered in yesterday's severe sell-off.

Trillities divisional films to the second selection of the second selection.

yesterday's severe sell-off.

Utilities displayed a firm tone, Electric Bond & Share advancing 2 points while gains of around a point were shown in American Gas & Electric and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore. Alcohols moved up for advances of 1 to 2 points in Hiram Walker, Distillers Corporation-Seagrams and Canadian Industrial Alcohol. A.

Leaders in the mining group included Newmont and New Jersey Zinc with advances of 4 and 2 5-8 points respectively. Other sizeable gains were shown in a number of industrial issues, among them Singer Manufacturing regained 4 points of its sharp drop of the previous session, while Aluminum Company of America, Sherwin Williams and General Tire & Rubber closed 1 to 2 points higher. Transfers approximated 396,000 shares compared with 388,000 for Thursday.

DOBBS & COMPANY—It may take some days for traders to catch up with, evaluate an analyze, the many rumors and reports from Washington, during which time markets are apt to be somewhat jumpy.

COURTS & COMPANY—The tone in the "Street" is decidedly bullish.

BEER & COMPANY—From the appearance of the market in the late hours Friday it seems quite possible that the raily may extend through Saturday's short session.

sion.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—We are inclined to take the very recent disturbing action of the market at its full face value and continue to feel that there is enough elements of strength in the situation to justify the retention of conservative holdings.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—
A nervous market seems to be indicated until conditions at Washington become clearer. In the meantime, we are inclined to the view that the buying side will prove he most profitable.

HUBBARD BROTHERS & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—There seems to be a fairly good demand from the trade on the dips which promptly has a tendency to check the de-cline and lend a steady undertone to the market.

cline and lend a steady undertone to the market.

COURTS & COMPANY—About all the information there is in the market continues to come from Washington, and, as matters in that sector new seem definitely on the way to more of action and less of discussion, we may expect to see more confidence shown in values.

BEER & COMPANY—Cotton is now in a position where we again favor buying it on recessions for quick turns.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—Friday's buying was of very good character and the GRAIN OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—
We are inclined to believe that December wheat may prove a purchase at around present levels. present levels.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—There appeared to be good buying Friday for milling account, but sentiment remains badly

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The severe declines of the past two days were followed by rallies of approximately $1.50 a bale in cotton today. The buying was attributed to a strengthened technical position and reports of an improved trade demand. December contracts sold up to 9.96, or 31 points net higher, but there was increased hedging as well as realizing during the last half hour, and the advance was not fully mainand the advance was not fully main December closed at 9.85, with th general market closing steady at net gains of 15 to 22 points.

Initial advances of 19 to 26 points in response to steadier Liverpool cables evidently brought in considerable trade and commission house buying, as well as covering.

bes evidently brought in considerable trade and commission house buying, as well as covering.

Houses with foreign connections were among the buyers, while there was active covering, but the demand was supplied by hedging or further scattering liquidation, and after showing net gains of some 25 to 30 points, prices sagged off in sympathy with the easier ruling of the grain market.

Offerings were absorbed on reactions of some 15 to 20 points by a continuation of the trade demand which was accompanied by reports of price fixing for both domestic and foreign account, and the market stiffened up again in the late trading on renewed covering. At the best prices showed net advances of 27 to 32 points, with the close showing reactions of 8 to 12 points under realizing by early buyers and southern selling.

Exports today 36,629, making 1.081,340 so far this season. Port receipts 105,971. United States port stocks 3,249,771.

Liverpool cables reported a steady market there during the early trading and said that hedge selling was meeting a good trade demand on a scale down with some Bombay and continental buying.

Houses with Liverpool, continental and far eastern connections were among the buyers here during the morning, and it was reported that the decline of the previous day had brought in more spot lemand, with the sales including some purchases for Chinese account. Weather and crop news came in for very little comment. Reports received here from Dallas said the weather had continued favorable for the movement, but that some farmers were holding and that the country basis was unchanged.

COTTON IN NEW ORLEANS
ADVANCES 22 TO 25 POINTS
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—(F)
The cotton market staged a fair recovery today from the declines of the two previous days, advancing 30 to 31 points above yesterday's close. There was a slight reaction at the end on realizing and the market closed steady at net advances of 22 to 25 points.

The opening was firmer in sympathy with better Liverpool cables than due and higher sterling. Manchester cabled that there was increased export inquiry for cloth. Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 5 pennypoints up.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—(P)—Led by the recently depressed secondary rails, bonds rallied substantially today and recoveries of 1 to 5 or more day and recoveries of 1 to 0 or more points were scattered throughout the list.

The turn-about, after six sessions of declining prices, was generally attributed to improved sentiment based on the apparent cooling of the inflationary fever.

Sales totaled $14,062,000, par value, against $16,687,000 yesterday. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues advanced 4-10 of a point.

Buying of the rails was rather impressive in the face of estimates that freight car loadings were showing a more than seasonal decrease. Among the more active gainers in the carrier section were some liens of Alleghany Corporation, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul and Chicago & Northwestern. It was noticeable that some of the prime investment bonds in the transportation division were up 1 to around 2 points.

The better utilities and industrials included loans of American Telephone, American Metals, Armour & Company, Consolidated Gas, Goodrich, Goodyear, International Telephone, Kanssa Gas, Postal Telegraph and Vanadium. Among the losers of a point or more were bonds of American Smelting, Childs Company, Colorado Industrial and Paramount-Publix.

Foreign obligations were mixed.

Publix.
Foreign obligations were mixed.
Those of Dutch East Indies, Japan,
Argentina, Norway and Switzerland gained 1 to 2 or more, but issues of France, Poland, Denmark and Germany were rather heavy.
United States government securities, for the most part, were firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Sept. ... 5.80 Oct. ... 5.80 Dec. ... 6.10 BELLIES Sept. 5.85 5.85 5.75 5.75 By JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.-(AP)-Notwithstanding strong rallies at times, wheat today finished at a moderate net loss after an extreme new break of 3 1-2 cents following yesterday's 5-cent collapse.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 1-8 to 1 5-8 under yesterday's finish; corn 1-8 off to 1-4 up, oats 1-4 to 3-4 advanced, and provisions 5 to 15

Corn and oats developed relative firmness compared with wheat. Country offerings of corn to arrive were curtailed, and there was buying resulting from assertions that corn might be included in the government's plan for purchasing $75,000,000 of foodstuffs for the needy.

Provisions sagged owing to irreg-ularity of hog values and of grains.

Bank Clearings

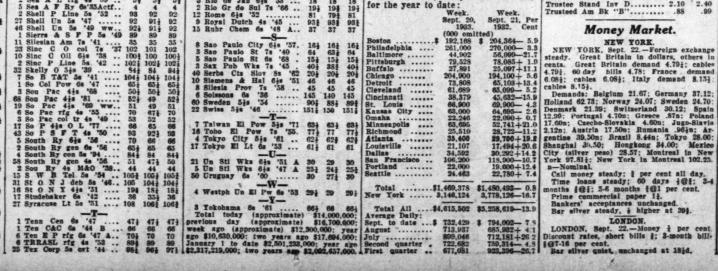

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.-Bank clearings continue below those of a methods. year ago. The total for this week at per cent lower.

The loss is mainly at New York city. Heavy, bank settlements in this week of last year swelled bank clearings considerably. In no preceding week since May of that year and for no succeeding week to the end of the year, had clearings beem so high. This will account in part for most of the larger losses now shown. The increase this week over the preceding week was $480.476,000, whereas a year $go clearings were larger by $907,549,000 than for the week before. A number of cities outside of New A number of cities outside of New York also show a decrease this week; important exceptions, however, are Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Dallas and

Trade Review Notes Increase in Buying

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(A)—Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in their weekly trade review today, said that "overshadowing other trade news of the week were the reports of a strong resumption of consumer buying and a perceptible retardation of the industrial downtrend."

The review asserted that clarification of methods of procedure under the various codes has brought greater freedom for progressive action to infreedom for progressive action to in-dustrial divisions, while the absence of rain and unseasonably warm tem-peratures, which prevailed in most districts last week, has permitted the covering of autumn requirements in retail centers to be pursued with more vigor.

"The trend of retail distribution," "The trend of retail distribution." continued the review, "was less uneven than a week ago, although reports varied from a gain of 8 per cent for the Pacific coast states to 15 per cent for some of the middle western districts, while slight losses were more or less generally recorded for the east and some parts of New England. In the southwest progress was halted by labor troubles."

New Stock Exchange May Locate in Newark

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 22.-(AP)of the New York Stock Exchange and the city commission, it was reported that assurances had been given the commissioners that if the exchange moves across the Hudson, it will locate here.

The conferees included Howard Freelick, chairman of the exchange committee and Commissioner Anthony

EASTERN FINANCIERS

INVITED TO CHICAGO

INVITED TO CHICAGO
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(P)—Eastern money interests, threatening to leave Wall Street due to new security taxes, were put on a mailing list today to receive a blanket invitation to come to Chicago.

With the idea of making La Salle street the world's new financial center, the executive computtee of the Association of Commerce decided to invite midwest corporations and the nation's outstanding security houses to do their business here in the future.

This blanket invitation was extended in preference to the possibility of influencing the New York exchange to move bodily from Wall Street to La Salle street. It was decided rather to attempt to build up the financial exchange facilities already here.

EGYPTIAN OFFICIAL ARRIVES ON SURVEY OF COTTON STATES

Wahab Pasha, Egyptian undersecretary of finance, arrived in Atlanta Friday night on the first leg of a tour of the south during which he will study American cotton production methods. The undersecretary is accompanied by his secretary, X. Shawky.

The distinguished visitor has been in the United States three weeks and plans to stay several months studying other American farm production

"We grow only the long-staple cotton in Egypt such as in grown in year ago. The total for this week at all leading cities in the United States, as reported by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., of $4,615,502,000 was 13.9 per cent below that of a year ago. At New the visitor said. "We have never been York city, clearings were $3,146,124, 000, a decrease of 16.7 per cent, while in Texas, and I believe that by visiting the agreement of the person of the section and talking with the 000, a decrease of 10.7 per cent, white the aggregate for centers outside of New York of $1,469,378,000 was 0.8 per cent lower.
